

The Hamptons
Volume IV, Issue 6
Labor Day 2016

*"All good ideas
start out as bad
ideas—that's why
it takes so long."*

—STEVEN SPIELBERG

Beach:

MODERN LUXURY

THE REEL THING

EAST END CINEPHILES

SHINNECOCK INDIAN NATION

A PHOTO ESSAY

GEORGE CLOONEY
AERIN LAUDER
BRIDGET MOYNAHAN
SUZANNE VEGA
RUFUS WAINWRIGHT

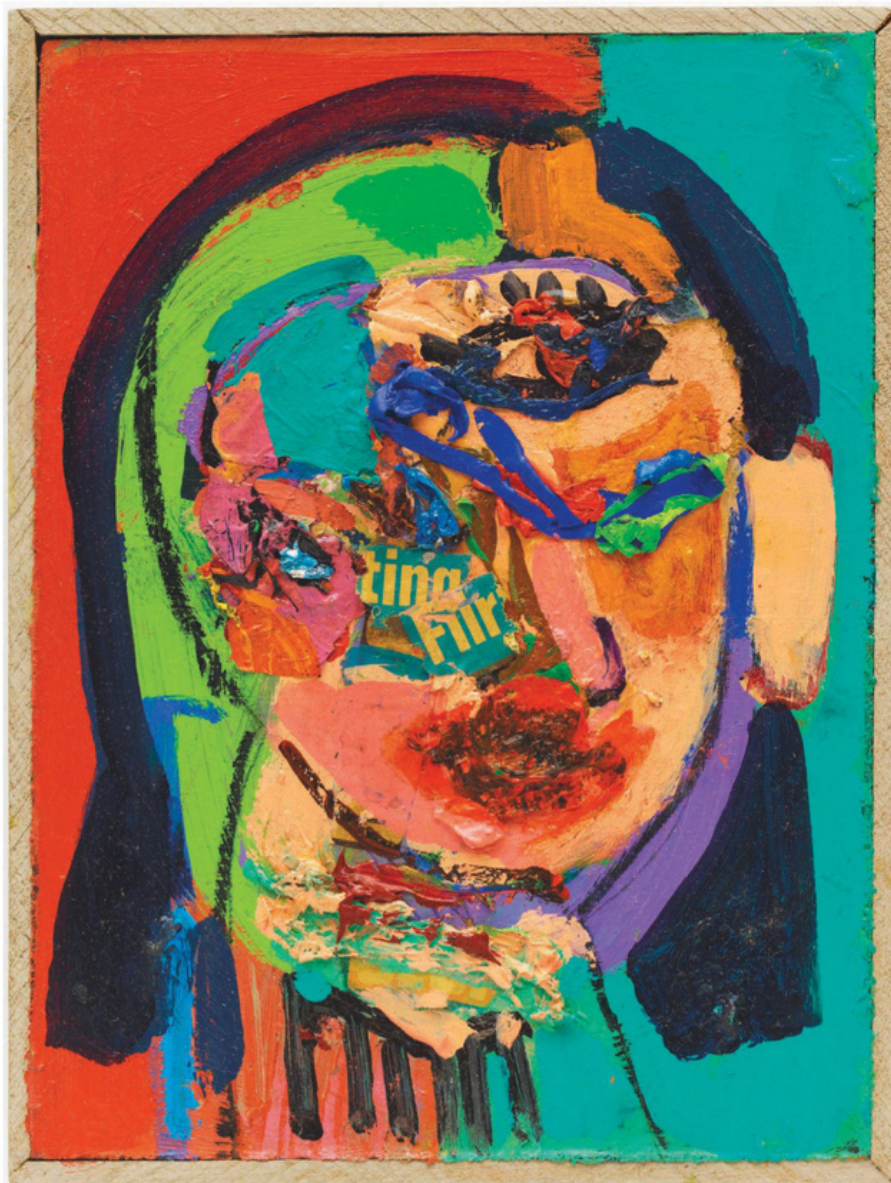

MAURA TIERNEY

THE TV QUEEN DISHES ON SEASON 3 OF THE AFFAIR

MODERNLUXURY.COM

CULTURED

47

I AM WOMAN

East Hampton-based figurative painter Susan Tepper, who passed away in 1991, made art that delved into what it means to be a woman. Susan Tepper: Paintings 1978-1983 at Tripoli Gallery is the first solo exhibit of Tepper's work since 1989. "Untitled," seen here, is part of her Heads series, a collection of paintings that examine the ideas of identity and gender through female visages depicted with bold colors and aggressive brushwork. Through Sept. 19, 30A Jobs Lane, Southampton, tripoligallery.com

"I am a painter of content—images of women swept into caves of isolation. I paint the story of this condition."

—Susan Tepper, artist

PHOTO © ARELLE TEPPER MADOVER, COURTESY HYPHEN & TRIPOLI GALLERY, PHOTO BY THOMAS BARRATT